

FREE SEMINAR/WEBINAR (HYBRID)

Preventing and reducing sexual and gender-based violence

All are welcome to attend this hybrid event, hosted by the Centre for Academic Primary Care and featuring presentations by esteemed colleagues from the 'Preventing and Reducing Sexual and Gender Based Violence Research Group', La Trobe University Australia.

This cross-disciplinary group specialises in primary prevention of gender-based violence, improving service system responses and whole-of-community approaches to response and prevention.

Drs Leesa Hooker, Jessica Ison and Elena Wilson will present on their diverse research fields, including transforming health systems, sexual violence prevention, and the public health and gender-based violence implications of climate change.
